Doro 319 Memory Plus

Plenty of thought has gone into the design of this model - it is ideal for those needing a super simple loud desk phone. It also features speed dial picture buttons and an optional protective keypad cover for further simplification. With extra loud voice and ringing volume plus oversize buttons this phone offers all the basics well and is Dementia Friendly

The CL100 is a corded telephone with a large button keypad and many useful features including the ability to amplify incoming speech. The CL100 produces a loop signal which makes it suitable for use by people who wish to use their hearing aid switched to the "T" setting.

£44.99

Also available also as a corded and cordless duo £79.99

The Geemarc Serenities Emergency Response Phone is ideal for those with hearing or visual impairments in addition to a number of features designed to help when the user finds themselves in difficulties in their own home. The Geemarc Serenities comes complete with an emergency transmitter which, when activated, will dial 5 pre-programmed numbers until a human response is obtained and then play a message that alerts the recipient to the need for help. The phone can be answered by activating the transmitter when the phone is ringing; the call is answered in hands-free mode automatically. £99.99
